

RESTAURANTS/DINING OUT

Eating out is popular in Perth and there are many excellent restaurant choices both in the city and suburbs. There is a vast variety of cuisines from all around the world often cooked by people from the place of origin

Tipping is generally expected for extra or friendly service, usually 10% to 15%, but it is not obligatory. On the bill there will be a separate amount for GST (Goods and Service Tax) – 10% of the total included in the total figure of the bill. There is often a surcharge applied for dining on public holidays and sometimes Sunday's. There may also be a credit card surcharge.

Licensed restaurants may have a full bar service, supplying wine, spirits and beer, while unlicensed restaurants, known as 'BYO' (Bring Your Own), allow diners to take their own wine to consume with their meal, a 'corkage' fee is usually but not always charged.

Some areas of Perth have seasonal cultural food festivals celebrating traditional ethnic cuisines. Food courts are situated in most of the larger shopping malls. Takeaway and 'Uber Eats/Door Dash/Menulog' home delivery service is very popular.
